I am what you see when you look at me I am what you hear when I talk what you feel when I tell you what I believe And you are all those things about you that I know You are my past and my future come together in that one point that is you I need you to create this being I call myself The world is as I create it and I am created by the world Together, we are one
The more of us there are the more we each become We need each other For without each other we have never existed.

Ken,
It's been nice knowing ya. Hope to see ya next year in Tatar.
Have fun this summer.
Love ya,

In science it is shown that the machinery of life never stops I am alive a child older than the world
I am lost and found in one breath
And I am always going someplace finding something losing something For better or worse I continue . . .

When it is over you remember All those days you wish you could have given just one more little bit All those times you longed to fly to create a miracle to die
And you remember finding in the silence All the things you never noticed in the cheers

You took time enough To look at the empty streets

It was something

Suddenly,

you have all the time in the world
All the many parts that used to be one Are spread out on a plateau of your thoughts

And then a voice intrudes into your silent world a hand a laugh
And just now you realize You still belong as part of a whole As you find it is the people and not the score that makes the game.

Reaching across the void and the helpless tears of frustration
To make every spot of light a rainbow
To take every moment of joy and make it a bridge To understand each other to uphold each other To truly touch each other with our minds our souls our dreams Becoming a living part of a whole to gain a goal we can never gain alone.

Seconds are a small part of the island of time around a man.

Yet to find this small part he will make it his master and run both to find it and to escape it.

Ending; in time
Each effort begets another effort stronger than before Each action portrays the soul
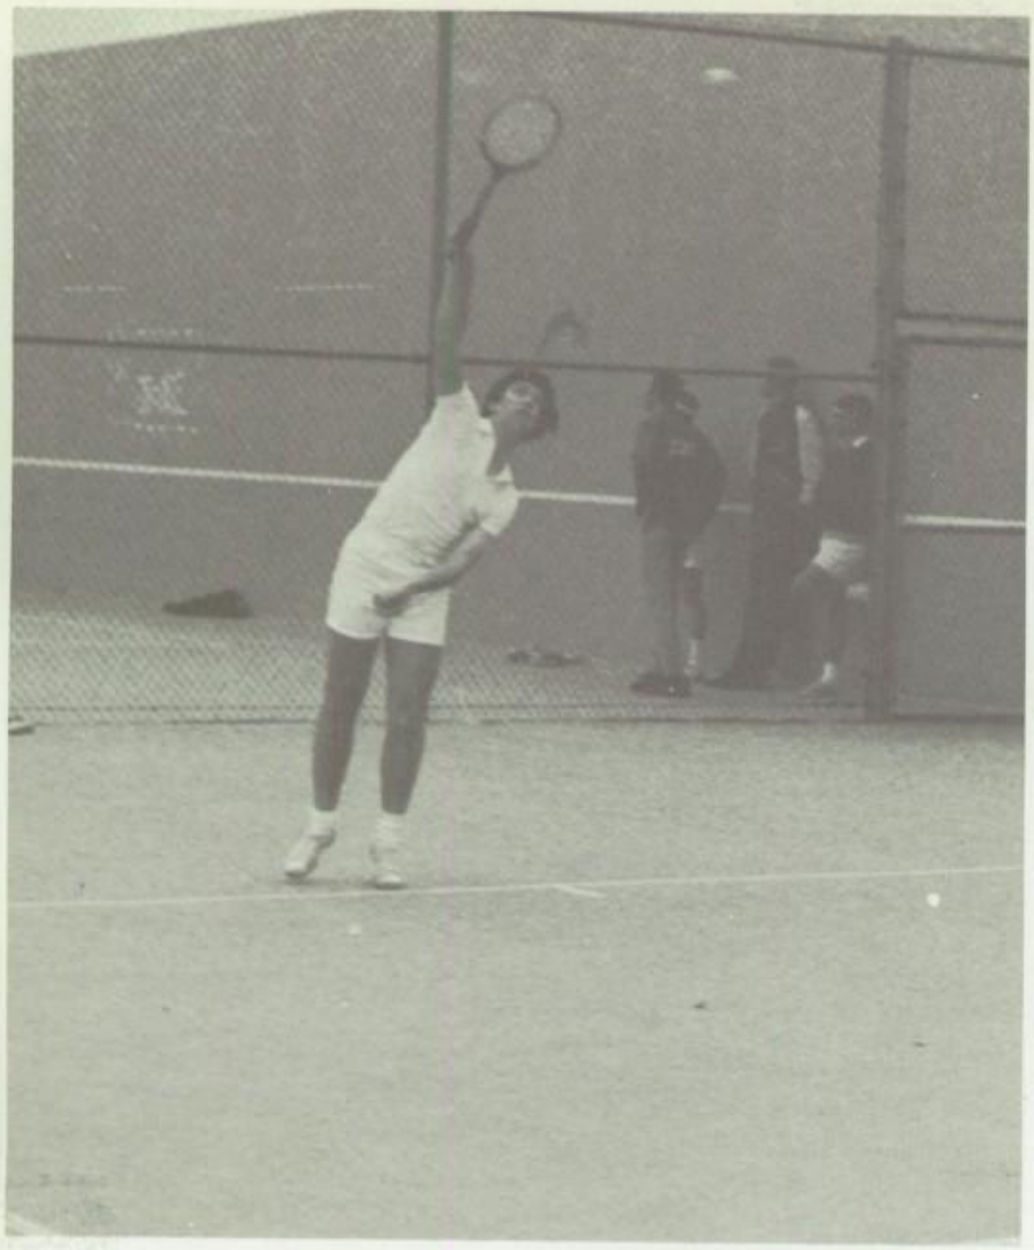
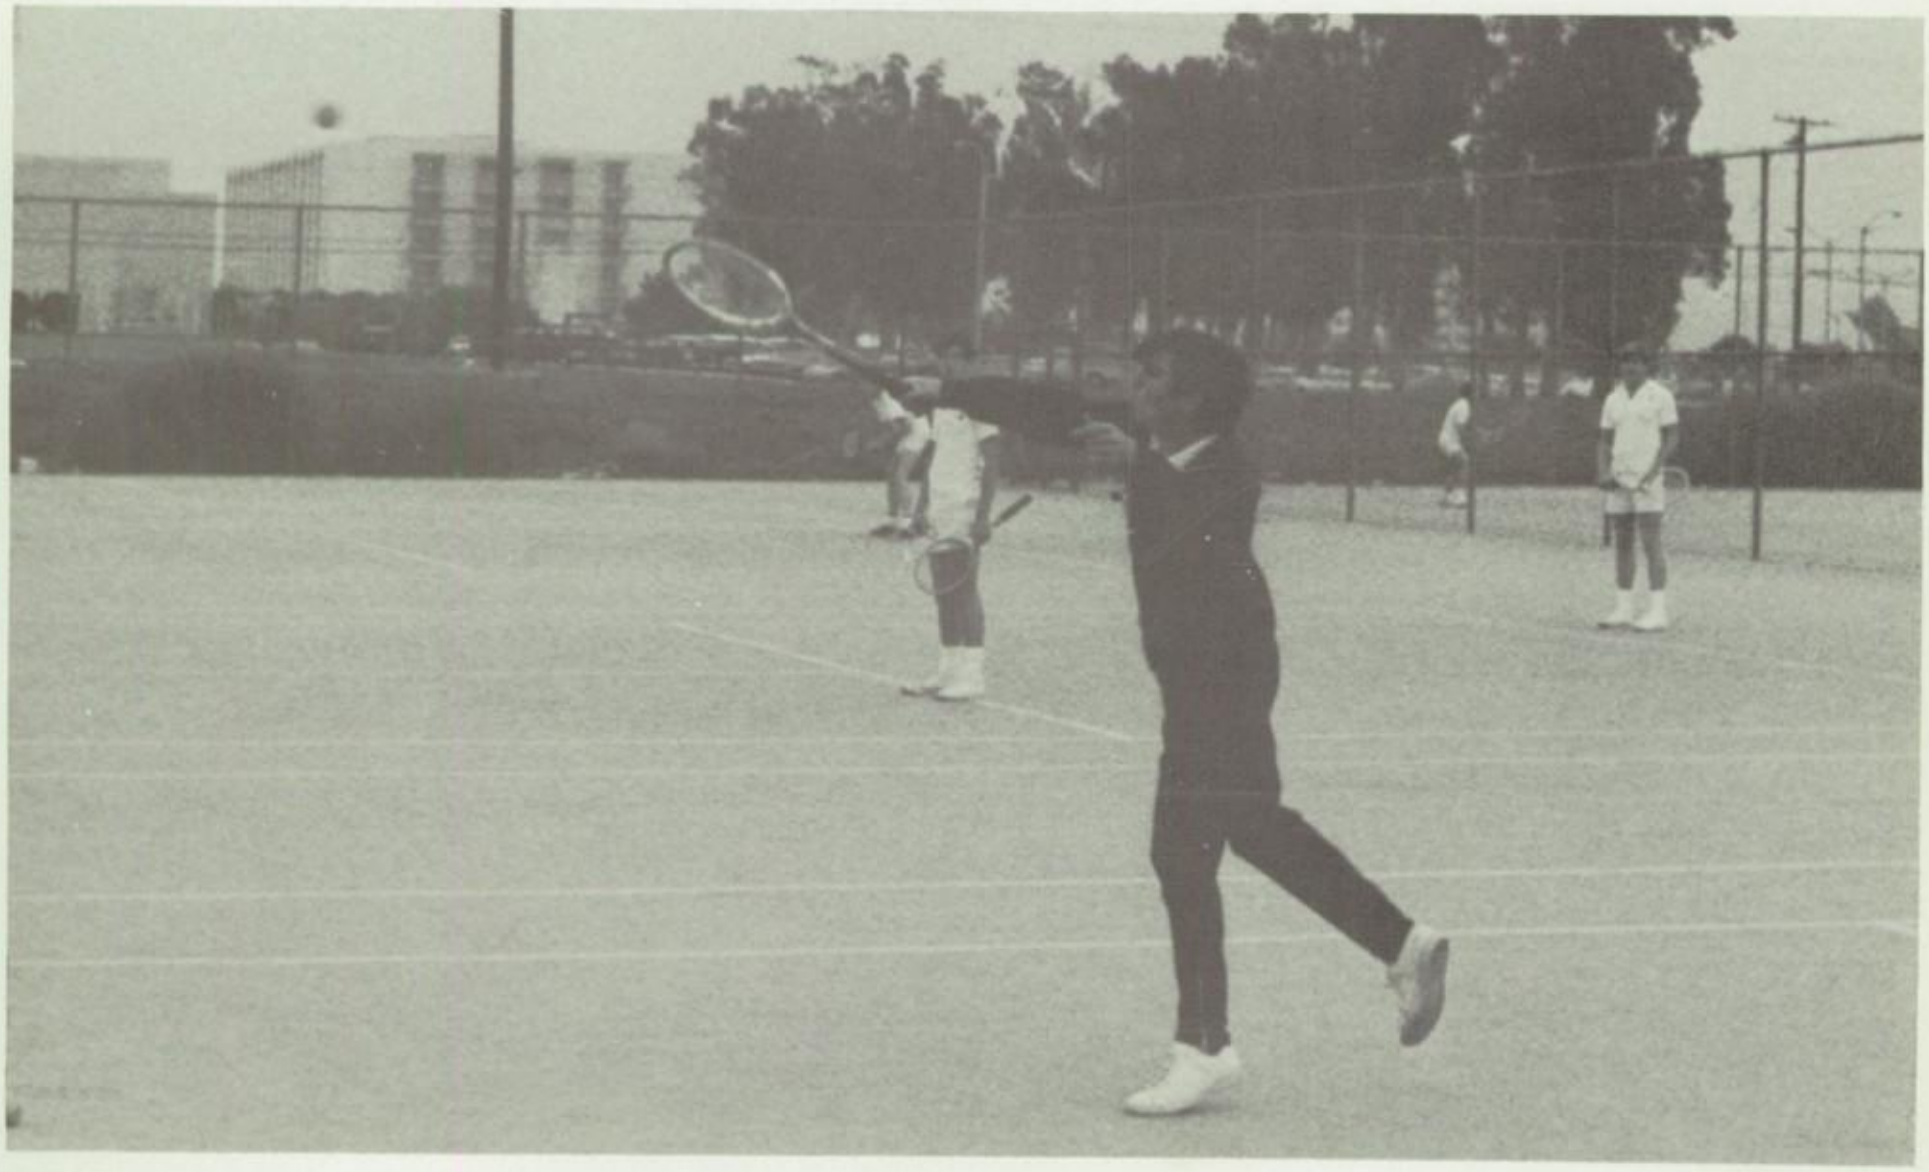
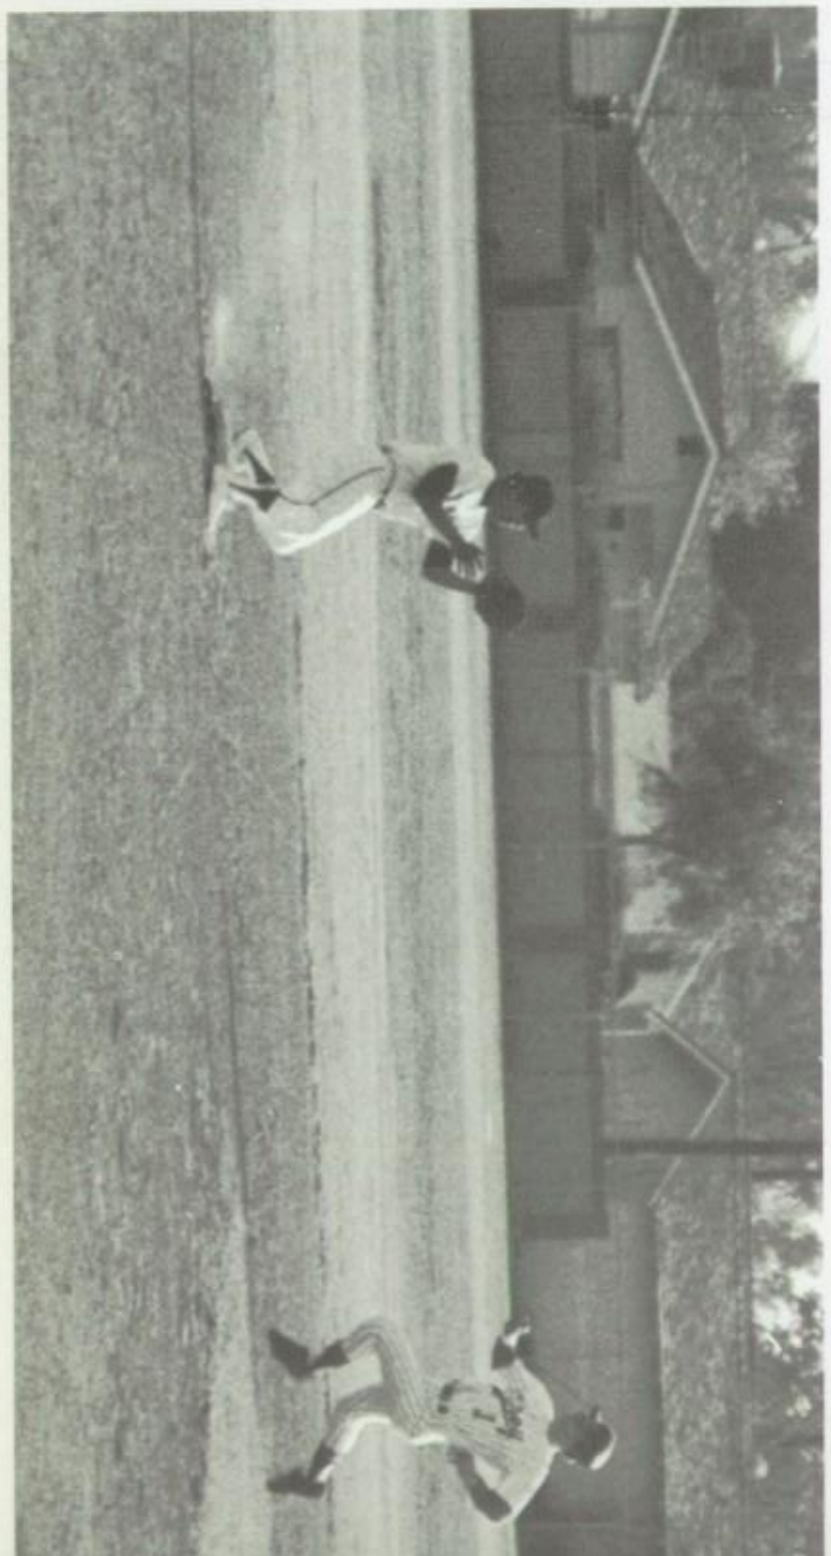
Each silence, my eternity.



At this time
In this moment
My life is in one place
This joy will bring me back again.





I heard the words
I felt the song
I had a thousand days and I used every one Now I have but one day
To reflect all these things
And it will be the same tommorow.

I can do as everyone says Or I can follow no one This decision I will find every day
And when I find it, I may not realize it Yet I will continue, win or lose If I choose to be alone,
I will not know the joy of doing things together
If I choose to join,
I will never know the triumph of doing things alone
I walk between these two places And though I am together I am always alone.

in Years Gone By.

For the past two years Santa's Workshop has become an important part in the Season of Joy.

The Activities Room became the Workshop, crowded with toys and kindness. Students donated their time to mend contributed toys. The helpful hands then crowded big boxes of mended toys into small cars where they were taken to the Christmas Clearing Bureau.

The efforts of concerned students made it possible for underpriviledged families to buy nice gifts inexpensively. As a result, everyone involved enjoyed a happier season.

Special recognition is given to Shirley Gondon and Brian Stewart who were the organizers behind this project.

Powder Puff Football

In the Fullerton stadium on the night of November 25, the annual Junior-Senior Powder Puff game became a fund-raising event for Bruce Jennings, a fellow student who was severly injured in a motorcycle accident.

Through ticket sales and donations $2,146 was collected as a contribution toward Bruce's rehibilitation.

The victory went to the Seniors with a final score of 14 to 6.

The originators of this project were David Laneville, Stu Hedges, and Susie Sager.

The Beauty of Life Is Our Contact With Other Lives.

Many Troy students, like John Duir, have moved out into different areas of the community to experience the rewards of working with people. This volunteer work encompasses assisting teachers at elementary schools, helping at convalescent homes, and working with underprivileged children.

Recognition should be given to the people who have shown involvement in our community.

I stopped here for a moment
On my way to meet the future
And in my quick glance I saw many things I became aware of thoughts around me I never knew existed before I understood feelings
I will never understand again
I fought bravely long ago
Now I must pursue my purpose Or is it eternity that is just beyond my grasp I am the future
This place is my past I cannot stay here long For I am a new child now
And I must live.

I was so near to you I could have touched you
It was a long time to go without knowing you You are everyone I never met every face I never saw Every person whose thoughts I never heard I am ignorant for the lack of you Yet you will always be around in my past and my future Next time I see you
We will talk.

Y-Teens

The Troy Y-Teens have had a busy and successful year. Their main emphasis has been planning and carrying out different community projects. At Christmas time they launched a very successful drive to obtain canned foods for needy families. Other activities included specialized speaker and group social activities.

Girls' League

This year's Girls' League activities included two of Troy's traditional activities-the carnation sale and the Sadie Hawkins dance. The carnation sale gives everyone an opportunity to send a carnation and message to their favorite campus equal or teacher on Valentine's Day. The Sadie Hawkins Dance gives all those favorite equals a chance to ask carnation senders to an evening of tattered clothes in Dogpatch U.S.A.

so glad to be here, really have to go, so sad to leave here,
   see you all below,
had me a good time,
   got to say good bye,
been here a long time,
   don't you wonder why?
